

Case study

Yunus, registered disability worker

Yunus is 18 years old and based in the northern suburbs of Melbourne. He has been working with people with disabilities for over two years.

Coming from a family with culturally and linguistically diverse (CALD) speakers, Yunus has focused his career on working with clients from CALD backgrounds.

He is now a proud support coordinator. He liaises with various organisations to ensure that people with disabilities are being supported regardless of who they are or what their disability is.

Having both family and friends with cognitive and physical disabilities, Yunus was familiar with the needs of people with disability in the community even before starting a career in the disability sector. He also knew the gaps where these needs were not being met.

Yunus' long-term plan is to finish his Bachelor of Nursing and become a specialist support coordinator.

For Yunus, being registered gives him an extra layer of confidence in his skills that he can demonstrate to both clients and employers.

"Being registered means I am able to show clients that I am trusted and qualified. I can also show potential employers I am willing to take that extra step for my career."
